PSC Powerline hearing to continue in June

By BRENT MACEY
A Mississippi Public Service Commission hearing on Mississippi Power Company's plans to construct a 500,000 volt line across the southern portion of this state will continue in June and may not conclude then, according to Sheila Madden, a Pearl River County resident who is co-chairman of a 140 member group of south Mississippians fighting construction of the line.

Hearings conducted Monday and Tuesday this week in Jackson have been postponed until mid June.
"I don't know if it will conclude then," she said.

When the hearing is over, the commission will decide whether to grant the power company a certificate of convenience and necessity, a permit which would allow construction to begin.
A date to resume the hearing will be set when the commission meets June 1 to set the June docket.

Madden noted the power company officials were given the first opportunity to present their case to the commission when the hearing began Monday.

"I think they have more witnesses to testify when we come back," she said. Some five witnesses paid by the power company have already testified during the two days of hearings.

Four have testified the line is compatible with human existence and poses no health threat.

They include, Dr. Jerry Griffin, a professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas and Dr. Edwin Carstensen, a professor at the University of Rochester, N.Y.

A fifth person, Harry H. Bell, the power company's vice president of Bulk Power Sources, testified to the power company's need to constructing the line.

Madden stated she was surprised the cross examination took so long.

"But we have to get the facts out," she noted Tom Tyner, an attorney from Hattiesburg is conducting the cross examination for South Mississippians for Orderly Development; the group opposed to construction of the line.

Eric Hadden, an attorney from New Orleans is representing Tyner and Joe Ann Lindner, a Hancock County couple; and Biloxi attorney Paul Benton is representing Jackson County landowner Dr. Richard Nichols.

Madden said the hearings so far have been "very educational."

However, she stated she was pleased the hearing has recessed "because everyone there was getting themselves up so high that I thought the bubble would just burst."

"We can use the time to regroup now and to rest," she said.

She noted the courtroom was "packed" both days and some 24 members of SMROD.

Although the courtroom drama was "intense," Madden said Lynn Havens, Public Service Commissioner for the Mississippi Southern Region, has injected humorous quips throughout the hearing.

Madden noted a power company official stated the line would make the customer service more reliable and Havens asked, "Isn't it reliable now?"

Later in the hearing, Havens questioned if the power company was willing to reduce rates if the line was constructed.

The comment apparently brought a roar of laughter from the audience since Mississippi Power just recently notified the commission it plans to seek a multimillion dollar rate hike.

Throughout the hearing however, Mississippi Power Company officials have stated the line will improve service to customers by increasing service reliability.

They have also noted the line will not cost Mississippi Power Company customers since a Texas firm will pay for all the construction costs.

The line, if constructed, will connect the Deale Electric Generating Plant in Paceville with Gulf States Utilities of Beaumont, Texas.

The connection point will be near Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

The line will cross some 74 miles of land in Mississippi.

SMROD members feel the line may be hazardous to farm animals and people. They also feel the property will be degraded.

The group also feels the line is not in the public interest.

Sheriff reveals county animal control problem

By BRENT MACEY
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors were confronted with problems of capturing stray dogs and responding to dog bite cases in the county Monday when Sheriff Ronald Peterson requested guidance to resolve a problem facing his department.

Peterson informed board members that the Bay St. Louis dog catcher responded to two dog bite cases in the county this past weekend.

The sheriff noted the county is outside of the city dog catcher's jurisdiction and the city dog catcher is not compensated to respond.

However, the Bay dog catcher and second, although both were on the dog catcher's own time since both incidents occurred on the weekend, Peterson said.

The sheriff noted Dennis Keeler, Bay dog catcher, was on his way to church Sunday when was contacted by the sheriff's department.

"He's been good about going out," the sheriff added.

"But I'm really beginning to feel bad about calling him."

"Every week we get 20 calls on dogs."

But we have no facilities or equipment and no pound to put them in. It's just a problem."

Peterson also told the board that packs of dogs are roaming the county and "no one knows who the owners are."

"I'm looking for guidance," Peterson added.

After the meeting Peterson said the problem with dogs is getting worse each year.

At the meeting the board discussed the possibility of having the county ranger handle the problem.

Peterson said the county was abandoned and the ranger was not authorized to handle only livestock.

Board President Dolph Keller said he would "look into the problem" and the meeting continued on to other business.

No action was taken.

When contacted later Monday, Keeler stated he's "getting tired" of responding to the needs of the county.

"I'm getting tired of going out there (into the county) for nothing. If I get bit I don't know if they would pay for the doctor's bill."

They (the sheriff's department) probably would, but it's not clear."

According to Keeler the county has a real problem with dogs.

"The biggest problem is BaySide and Shoreline Park," he said.

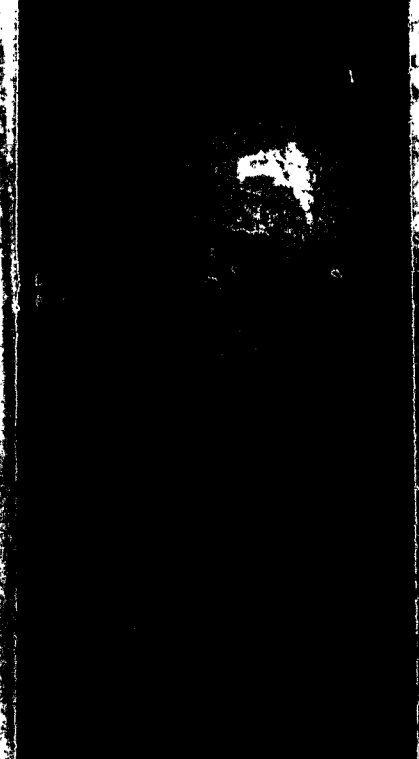

He feels a county should employ a dog catcher.

He asked he would be willing to take the job.

"I love my job and I have been doing the work for the county for the past year. I'm just not getting paid for it."

Keeler has hopes the county will pay for his travel into the county.

Peterson enters Beat Three race

By BRENT MACEY

Peterson, 38, is a native of Bay St. Louis and has lived in the county for 15 years. He is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi where he majored in criminal justice and history.

"I would like to emphasize the importance of every one voting on June 1 to select the Justice Court judge who they feel is most qualified," he continued.

Necaise is married to the former Kimberly Ann Sumrall of Bay St. Louis. They have two children, Alissa Necaise, 2½, and David Michael Necaise II, born May 13.

The candidate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Frank Necaise of Bay St. Louis.

HAMILTON GUENARD JR.

Funeral today for man killed in Bay accident

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The funeral for a Waveland man killed in a Monday night motorcycle accident on US-90 in Bay St. Louis is today at 11 a.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Pines in Waveland with interment following in the City Cemetery.

Chief Douglas Williams of the Bay St. Louis Police Department Tuesday reported Hamilton J. Guenard Jr., 21, of 1225 Lemo St. was killed in the accident.

Guenard was apparently thrown into the highway from a motorcycle he was driving and run over by an automobile.

The accident in the westbound lanes near the Wheel Inn Restaurant was reported at about midnight to Bay police by on-duty Deputies David Murtagh and Albert Biehl of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Williams said.

Mobile Medic units of the Bay and Waveland Police Departments responded to the accident scene.

Upon investigation it was discovered that Guenard was traveling west on US-90 on his motorcycle in the left lane. The motorcycle apparently hit the median curb and traveled approximately 50 feet. Guenard was thrown into the left westbound lane about 26 feet from where the cycle was found," the chief explained.

"Lloyd Schubert of Bay St. Louis stated he was traveling in the left westbound lane when he saw something in the road and swerved into the right lane to avoid hitting it. Thaddeus Jackson of Waveland was traveling directly behind the Schubert automobile and could not avoid hitting Guenard," he stated.

Williams said Guenard was pronounced dead at the scene by County Coroner Carl Banderet and an inquest ruled the cause of death as accidental.

No charges have been filed in the case, he added.

Also responding to the accident were investigator Alvin Ladner of the sheriff's department and Barbara Ellspermann of the Bay department.

Guenard was a security guard for State Exports at Port Blenville Industrial Park near Pearlington.

He is survived by his father, Hamilton P. Guenard; his mother, Mrs. Marie Hayward Bernard; a brother, Hayward Brett Guenard, all of Waveland; a stepbrother, Marc Lee Bernard of Bay St. Louis; a half sister, Miss Casey Lynn Bernard of Waveland; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hayward and Hamilton R. Guenard, all of Waveland.

An inquest was Wednesday night at Bay Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

Boats collide on Pearl sending two into water

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A 20-foot Wellcraft and a 15-foot John boat collided late Saturday near the Pearl River Marina, according to Clifton Roberts, Marine Resources enforcement officer.

Roberts said "The speed hull was operated by Nick M. Cascio of Kenner, La. and occupied by his wife and two children when it apparently ran over the flat bottom boat operated by Thomas A. Reeves of Long Beach with Morrel Hilton as passenger."

"The small boat sank as the two occupants went overboard and we are lucky there were no injuries. The operators said they did not see each other until it was too late to avoid the crash," Roberts added.

"The boats were about to enter the marina, and Pat Reeves, brother of Thomas, was on the dock at the time of the accident," Roberts allowed.

No citations were issued, according to the investigator who noted this was the first boating incident of the season in Hancock County.

Jim Hanley, district supervisor of Mississippi's Bureau of Marine Resources Enforcement Division whose responsibility is water safety, said his department is setting up new schedules to meet the boating season.

Hanley stated Tuesday, "We are cancelling weekends off for all officers in order to have all of our boats in the waters patrolling on weekends."

"We will be giving courtesy inspection at ramps and will be keeping a very high profile in water safety enforcement. We urge all boating parties to please check their life jackets as far as quantity, accessibility and condition," Hanley allowed.

Hanley emphasized, "Our job is to provide safe boating for everyone. The reason for enforcement is not just to write tickets. In 1981 we had several deaths due to boating accidents and we are trying to avoid deaths in 1982."

"All Marine Resources Enforcement officers have instructions to issue tickets if boats are not properly equipped with safety equipment once they leave a dock and are stopped. Tickets will be issued to the boat's operator and/or owner."

"In addition to safety equipment a close check will be kept on the operation of boats on the waterways including water skiers. There is no designated area for water skiers, but a tremendous amount of good judgment has to be used so everyone can enjoy safe boating."

"We realize some inconveniences will be caused by officers stopping boats for equipment checks, but this is necessary. We want to help the public and will check boats of all sizes, not just the big or little ones," Hanley stated.

Hanley requests any person having any questions in regards to equipment or water safety to give his office a call at 452-7221 in Pass Christian.

Bay man nabbed in theft

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Waveland Police Department has apparently solved a theft which occurred at a local gasoline service station.

Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille of the department Tuesday said Louis Davis Jr., 25, of 1716 Shieldsbrough St. in Bay St. Louis was arrested Saturday night at his residence by Patrolman Wilber Dorsey of the Bay Police Department.

Davis is scheduled for a preliminary hearing today at 6 p.m. in Waveland City Court before Judge Lucien Gex.

He was charged with grand larceny in the theft of some $700 in cash from a Target Oil Co. gasoline station on US-90 in Waveland, Tartavouille reported.

The investigator said the theft reportedly occurred when the thief apparently took the money from a cash register while the attendant was busy. Joining Tartavouille in filing charges at the County Jail in Bay St. Louis was Investigator Sandra Henley.

Sheriff probing Hwy. 603 injury

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is attempting to determine cause of injuries to a Waveland man who was found on a Hwy. 603 road shoulder early Saturday morning with both legs broken.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson Wednesday morning confirmed the department is investigating the circumstances which led to injuries suffered by Fred G. Wilson, in his 30's, of P.O. Box 383, Waveland.

"The details of what happened are sketchy. Wilson told us two stories. First, Wilson said he was thrown from a car and then he told us a car came along and hit him," the sheriff stated.

"But Wilson had no description of the car and could provide no other details of the incident," Peterson said.

"Our office received a telephone call at 12:08 a.m. Saturday from Johnny Bufkin of Bay St. Louis who reported he saw a man laying on the west side of the highway just south of the Stennis International Airport entrance road," Peterson reported.

The sheriff said Wilson was transported to a Veterans Administration Hospital in New Orleans for treatment.

"The incident is under investigation by our department," he added.

Deputies Albert Biehl and Russell

Watts responded to the call and were assisted by Deputy Nathan Hoda.

MULTIPLE CHARGES

A Florida man is scheduled for a preliminary hearing before Justice Court Judge Bruce Necaize at 6 p.m. June 19 to face multiple charges.

Peterson reported at about 11 p.m. Saturday Thomas M. Williams, 30, of Perry drove his automobile into a tree in Janet R. Crowther's front yard at 1001 Spanish Acres Drive in Bay St. Louis, left the accident scene and walked to a nearby residence.

"A warrant was obtained from Justice Court Judge John Chevis for Crowther's arrest," the sheriff said.

Williams is charged with resisting arrest, leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving, driving under the influence, refusing an alcohol breath test, and possession of marijuana and a controlled substance.

"Bay St. Louis police and our deputies apparently found a small amount of marijuana and a substance which has been sent to the State Crime Laboratory for analysis," Peterson reported.

Williams was released on $1,650 bond, the sheriff added.

Responding to the incident were Watts and Biehl, and Bay Patrolmen Mike Hobby and Willie Harrington.

the past year for this reason.

The trip presents a problem since the truck used by Keeler is in poor condition.

"I don't know how many more trips it (the truck) can make. It's not going to make it one of these days," he said.

In order to reduce wear and tear on the vehicle, Keeler said he has reduced the number of trips he makes to Gulfport.

Although Keeler previously traveled to Gulfport daily, he now attempts to go only once every several days.

For this reason dogs captured by the Keeler may remain in the truck for several days.

Keeler claims the dogs and cats captured are not being abused.

"When they have food and water they're OK for a couple of days in the truck," he said.

Regardless, Keeler is hoping a new animal shelter will be constructed in the county soon.

Work toward that goal is currently being done by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Following a protest from citizens living near a proposed site at the Bay St. Louis sewerage treatment lagoon, the plan for construction of the site in that area was abandoned.

Members of the Hancock County Animal Control Commission, a commission which was working toward construction of the shelter, also resigned following the wave of protest over locating the shelter at the Bay lagoon.

Tuesday, Waveland Mayor John Longo stated the Waveland Board of Aldermen had discussed the possibility of constructing a dog pound near the Waveland sewerage treatment plant.

Longo said he recently received the support of both the county and Bay St. Louis for the new location.

The three governing entities have donated $5,000 each to construction of the facility.

"That is about as far as it has gone," he said.

Longo said he thought the Waveland board would advertise its intent to locate the shelter at the Waveland Treatment Plant at its Wednesday meeting.

He also said he thought the Animal Control Commission would agree to continue working with the city and county in getting a green light on the issue.

A.C. (Mitch) Mitchell

On Monday of this week, A. C. (Mitch) Mitchell, a longtime friend, was laid to rest.

Mr. Mitchell who was known as Mitch to everyone, was a native of Hancock County. He was born in Logtown, an area now a part of the National Space Technology Laboratories.

We first remember Mitch as being the Chancery and Circuit clerk of Hancock County, a position he held for 12 years.

In his later years he opened an insurance and real estate office in Bay St. Louis in which he remained active until his sudden death.

A person very close to his family, church, and native Hancock County, Mitch will be missed by all his friends.

To his wife, daughter, and granddaughters we extend our sympathy.

The strong rays of sunlight have awakened the urge in many people to get out on the waterways to enjoy boating activities.

One of these events almost led to a disaster to several families last weekend when two boats collided on the Pearl River, sending two people into the drink after their boat was run over by another.

Whenever we are on water, we should use extreme caution and try to be alert at all times. The waterways are foreign ground to humans as they cannot swim like fish.

We hope everyone will enjoy themselves on the waterways, but please make it a safe journey.

It was very good to see so many folks at the special dinner sponsored by the Naval Oceanographic Center and area chambers of commerce.

The good news especially to Hancock County residents is the expansion plan underway for the Navy at NSTL.

With a Naval work force of over 1,200 at NSTL, a big payroll is realized in the area.

We are happy to have the Navy Oceanographic Center in Hancock County as well as other military and governmental operations.

On Wednesday we did not feel too spry as we drove in our auto to our weekly Rotary meeting as we saw fellow member Carl Smith glide in on his tricycle.

The reason for the significance is the fact that Carl lives several blocks further than we work from the meeting place and he rolled up birthday 95 last November.

Keep on riding, Carl.

There is a big celebration scheduled for members of Bay High's graduating class of 1952.

June Coffey, a class member, called to say it will be held Saturday, 7 p.m., at the American Legion Annex on Blue Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis.

We understand Billy Miles is one of the persons the organizers have been unable to reach.

Billy was one of our playmates when he lived on Nicholson Avenue, and we kept an alligator his father caught on a fishing trip for many years after they left Waveland.

PASS VFW POPPY SALE SATURDAY—Placing a 'Buddy Poppy' in Pass Christian Mayor Gordon E. Bishop's coat lapel Tuesday morning at City Hall is Joyce H. Phillips, Cecil R. Rudderick Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Unit No. 5931 Buddy Poppy chairman, as Auxiliary President Mary Fedele and VFW Post No. 5931 Buddy Poppy Chairman Joe Fedele participate in the event where the mayor signed a proclamation endorsing a poppy sale slated Saturday and was

Buddy Poppies

EDITOR'S NOTE: Joe Fedele, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 5931 Buddy Poppy chairman wrote the following theme explaining the purpose of the poppy sale and in honor of his son, John Fedele, who was killed in the Vietnam war.

Well my son, here I am again standing in the hot sun trying to sell these Buddy Poppies. Some people stop and buy and give me a cheery smile, some roll up their windows and turn their heads, others say, "Not again, I gave last year." To these I say, think what this little flower gives—aid to the widows and orphans of deceased veterans, aid to disabled veterans, and above all, it helps us as VFW to keep our pledge, "Honor The Dead by Helping The Living."

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

RURAL JOB
DEVELOPMENT

Senator Thad Cochran has persuaded the Senate Agriculture Committee not to eliminate federal funding of a jobs development program for rural America.

Cochran fought efforts to eliminate a subcommittee recommendation of $400 million to fund the Business and Industrial Loan Program under the Rural Development Act.

"Since 1974 this program has created over 400,000 jobs in rural America, with over 10,000 of these in Mississippi. It's a program that is vital to the continued development of rural America," Cochran told the committee.

The Business and Industrial Program, administered by the Farmers Home Administration, provides loan money for businesses and industries that agree to establish operations in rural areas and employ area residents.

"Funding of this program would not increase the budget, nor add to the Administration's deficit projections," Cochran said. "These are guaranteed loans which will be repaid with interest."

May 19, 1982

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in the hope that maybe a few people will stop and realize that they need to express their feelings of love now because soon it may be too late.

There is only one time that I can remember that I told my brother that I really loved and need him. I told him this Friday after graduation. I hope that he realized that I do love him.

We were brothers and we did what all brothers do, fight. We fought so much we never had time to express our true feelings toward each other.

I now know that I should have expressed myself more than I did, but it is too late.

I hope that those of you who read this will realize that one day it will be too late for you. It will be too late to say what you want to say.

I hope that wherever Hamilton is, that he realizes that I do love him and will miss him with all of my heart.

I would also like to promise him that I will keep his memory alive in me and our little sister, for she is too young to remember.

Love always,

Dear Sir,

Have you heard the bells coming from the Main St. United Methodist Church?

I work at the Hancock County Courthouse and the church's bells have been a real inspiration to me.

As we grow older we tend to think, 'Gee! I wish I did not have to go to work' or we gripe about having to work one way or the other.

The chimed hymns have had a magic power on me.

The hymns of praise or honor to God give me such a great feeling of delight that I now thank God that I am able to go to work.

Think about the number of people who are too old, disabled or otherwise unable to go to work.

The bells ring at noon and at 5 p.m. Take notice.

Editors chastised for 'vulgarizing' community's newspaper

May 14, 1982

To the Editor:

The Sea Coast Echo for many years has been a decent paper to come into our homes and we have been proud to bring it in for the family members to see.

Until Thursday, May 13, it was shocking to see on the front page a large vulgar picture of a man that you had to go to Hancock County to get.

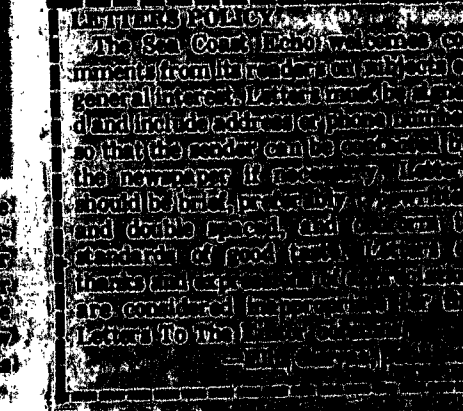

I'm sure with many nice girls that were in the Pageant, you could have gotten a more decent picture for our paper.

I am returning the picture to you, and hope you will get enough back to repaper your living room.

I am waiting to see if you will print this letter.

Respectfully,
M. J. K. [Signature]

Power company offers summer tips to elderly

Mississippi Power Company has joined the National Institute on Aging in warning the elderly and those with heart disease, stroke or diabetes to avoid heat-related health problems this summer such as heat stroke or heat exhaustion.

In 1980 more than 1,200 deaths—mostly among people over 65—were attributed to the heat that summer, compared with an average of about 200 deaths in other years, the institute said.

Most medical experts agree that as people age they do not adjust as well as younger people to increases in temperature, in part because they sweat less.

In addition, the elderly are more likely to have underlying diseases or take medicines which decrease their resistance to heat stress. As a result, during periods of very high temperatures the elderly may build up body heat which can lead to heat stroke or heat exhaustion.

To ensure continued electrical service to keep cool during the summer, Mississippi Power Company has developed a third party notification plan. Under the plan you may choose someone else, a relative or friend for example, to receive a copy of any disconnect notice sent to you. This does not, however, place any obligation on the third party to pay your electric service bill nor will it defer or prevent disconnection if payment is not made. The third party will simply be aware that a problem exists and should remind you that your current bill is overdue.

During hot weather, the best precaution is to remain indoors in a cool place. Other good ways to cool off include taking baths or showers and airing yourself dry, placing icebags or wet towels on the body and using electric fans.

In addition, it is wise to: —Stay out of direct sunlight and avoid strenuous activity. —Wear lightweight, light-colored, loose-fitting clothing that permits sweat to evaporate. Wear a hat if you go outdoors.

—Drink plenty of liquids such as water or fruit and vegetable juices to replace the fluids lost by sweating. People who are overweight, very large, or exercising may need especially large quantities. Try not to drink alcoholic beverages (including beer) or fluids that have too much salt, since salt can complicate existing medical problems, such as high blood pressure. Use salt tablets only with your doctor's approval.

—If you live alone, have a relative or neighbor check in on you regularly.

—Above all, take the heat seriously and don't ignore danger signs like nausea, dizziness, fatigue and fever. Use caution and common sense and get prompt medical attention if you find yourself becoming ill.

Wildlife Federation assisting efforts to end ocean dumping

OCEAN DUMPING SUITS

The National Wildlife Federation has petitioned to join the Environmental Protection Agency as a defendant in six federal lawsuits that seek to extend a 1981 deadline for the phase-out of sewage sludge ocean dumping.

NWF is seeking to prevent EPA from settling the ocean dumping suits, filed last year by six New Jersey sewage authorities, without addressing environmental concerns.

Joining NWF's intervention request, filed in the U.S. District Court in Newark, N.J., are the New Jersey State Federation of Sportmen's Clubs, New Jersey Congressman William J. Hughes (D-2nd Dist.) and Delaware Congressman Thomas B. Evans (R-at-large).

The suit involves an EPA regulatory deadline of December, 1981, for any sewage sludge ocean dumping found "unreasonably degrading" to the marine environment.

The New Jersey municipalities claim that EPA is permitted to prohibit ocean dumping of sludge only if harm to the ocean outweighs the incremental costs and impacts of land-based alternatives.

NWF and the two congressmen claim that the challenged regulations simply implement a 1977 amendment to the Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act, commonly called the ocean dumping law.

According to the NWF, the EPA was about to settle the ocean dumping suits by agreeing to allow continued ocean dumping and to process additional dumping permits.

"We weren't satisfied that the EPA had made a strong enough defense of its regulations, and our only recourse was to try and intervene," said Ken Kamlet, director of NWF's Pollution and Toxics Division.

The case is critical to maintaining regulations that protect the world's oceans, says Kamlet. "Without strong laws prohibiting the dumping of sewage sludges, there's no incentive to find other waste disposal methods," he said.

"The ocean is too fragile an ecosystem to continue to serve as the dumping ground for chemical companies, cities and dredgers."

Sewage sludge generated by the six New Jersey authorities, as well as by other cities in New Jersey and New Jersey, is dumped in the Atlantic Ocean along the "12-mile-site," about 11 nautical miles from the coasts of New Jersey and Long Island, N.Y. The sludge, dumped at a rate of about 8 million tons annually, contains large amounts of toxic heavy metals, including mercury, PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls), and other organic chemicals.

The New Jersey sewage authorities seeking an extension of the ocean dumping deadline are: Linden Roselle Sewerage Authority, Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority, Joint Meeting of Essex and Union Counties, Middlesex County Utilities Authority, Passaic Valley Sewerage Authority, and the Bergen County Utilities Authority.

Federal Judge H. Lee Sarkin will decide whether to grant NWF the right to intervene.

QUESTION: Do you advise making as large a downpayment as we can afford in order to decrease our monthly house payment? O. S. Holly Springs

ANSWER: Dear O. S. For most people this question never comes up, primarily because most of us buy all the house we can possibly afford, and therefore it takes all of our available cash just to make the minimum downpayment.

A large downpayment has certain advantages. The larger the downpayment, the less you have to borrow from a lender. For example, at an interest rate of 16 percent, each $1,000 borrowed requires a monthly payment of $13.45. Thus, by putting $10,000 more down, your monthly payment for the next 30 years would be reduced by $134.50.

The larger the downpayment, the easier it is to get a mortgage loan on favorable terms. Normally lenders reduce the interest rate as the borrower puts more of his own money into the purchase.

In addition, the increased equity you have because of a higher downpayment is an excellent source of collateral for future use. The proceeds from a second mortgage could be used for home improvements, college educations, or downpayment on another property.

In some instances and for some people, a smaller downpayment is desirable. You may not want to use all of your available cash as a downpayment, choosing instead to keep a cash reserve for unexpected expenses. With the high money market rates currently being paid, you certainly would have little trouble finding a place to invest your extra cash.

Your effective cost is less with a large mortgage payment because the interest you pay each year is deductible in computing your personal income tax.

Less equity also means your house may be easier to sell if the mortgage is assumable, and it may not be. Had you made an exceptionally large downpayment when you purchased your home, your assumable mortgage would not be too attractive to someone who did not have enough cash to buy out your equity.

Remember, too, that if you cannot or do not want to make a large downpayment, you may be required by a lender to purchase a mortgage insurance, which reduces the lender's risk.

Whatever you choose to do, be sure to weigh both the advantages and disadvantages of a large downpayment. It is a decision that should be made for everyone.

For answers to your questions, write Dr. Dennis Tosh, POB 295, University, Ms. 38677.

WHY JAMES THOMAS SHOULD BE OUR NEXT CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE.

Over 2,000 cases are filed every year in the Circuit Court of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. Tough cases. Like murder, rape and armed robbery.

Only three judges handle this enormous load. One judge is retiring this year.

So, when our new Circuit Court Judge takes the bench, he's got to have the experience to take charge. Immediately.

As our Assistant District Attorney, James Thomas has worked for us in the Circuit Court for nearly a decade. He's tried cases before thousands of jurors.

He knows the law. He knows how the Circuit Court works. And he's in touch with the people he serves.

"I share the frustrations people have with our criminal justice system. Equal protection under the law is the foundation of our democracy. But sometimes it seems like criminals are more equal than their victims."

"As Judge, I'll administer justice fairly, firmly and impartially. So criminals will think twice before they act."

James Thomas has spent his career in the judicial system of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. He's prosecuted hundreds of cases in the very courtroom he'll preside over as judge. He has the knowledge and experience to be our next judge.

On June 1st, let's elect James Thomas, Circuit Court Judge, Place 1.

EDUCATION UPDATE

By Hancock County
Superintendent of Education Billy Sills

Friday was the last day of the 1981-82 school year. I wish to congratulate our seniors whose years of hard work have finally been rewarded by graduation from high school. Be reminded, however, that you have not reached the pinnacle, only the crossroads in your lives.

Ahead, there are greater challenges and obstacles that must be met and overcome. I challenge you to face them even in the midst of adversity and be successful in your endeavor. I am sure you will be.

Also, I want to convey personal thanks and appreciation to a fine central office staff, great school administrative personnel, staff of cooperating teachers, parents, Board of Education and all who have made any contribution of time, volunteer service and words of encouragement for projects and the things that went well. We appreciate the concern expressed throughout the county for the welfare and advancement of public education.

Test scores are on the rise, positive self-images improving, vandalism decreasing, accreditation is the highest allowed by the state and the Southern Association.

We want to thank all citizens of the county as well as our school family of students, faculty, staff and administration and wish them a happy and productive summer, along with fun and recreation.

We hope to see you in August at the beginning of a new school year.

Book Review

Olden Times in Mississippi
Featured in New Book

Olden times in Mississippi take on a nostalgic glow in a new book published by the University Press of Mississippi.

Olden Times Revisited, compiled and edited by Minrose Clayton Gwin, is a collection of reminiscences Col. W. L. Clayton wrote for the Tupelo Journal in 1905 and 1906.

Clayton originally called his newspaper articles "pen pictures," and in them he revived vivid scenes and personalities from his memory of frontier days in northeastern Mississippi.

"I write wholly from memory," he said, "having kept no diary or transaction in these olden times."

Clayton's articles, preserved here in one volume, are valuable resources for historians, genealogists, and those who wish to perceive the nature and character of Mississippi during simpler times.

"If I had the pen of a ready writer," Clayton wrote, "enabling me to give a pen picture of the appearance of the virgin forests in these olden times, covered with the upstretching trees, with occasional vines entwining them from top to bottom, loaded with wild grapes or luscious muscadines, and the plains and hillsides waving with beautiful wildflowers, it would read like a fairy tale."

The chivalry, the tall tales, the Indian lore, the social customs, and the local characters portrayed in Clayton's pen pictures provide intimate descriptions of how people lived in Lee and Itawamba counties during antebellum times and during Reconstruction.

Born in 1836, Clayton grew up in a frontier region only recently vacated by the Chickasaw nation. He became a lawyer and later served in the Civil War as a captain. After the war he was affectionately known as "Colonel Clayton." He died in 1921.

Olden Times Revisited is available in book stores or from the University Press of Mississippi, 3825 Ridgewood Road, Jackson, MS 39211 for $6.95 plus state sales tax.

Pearl River College graduates 384

Pearl River College graduated 384 students in Poplarville Sunday afternoon, May 16, before a capacity crowd of more than 3,000 persons.

The formal service was the 72nd annual commencement for Pearl River College.

"This is not our largest graduating class—last year's 400 graduates set the record," said Dr. White, "but it is the largest gathering of family and friends to ever attend a PRC commencement."

Dr. Aubrey Lucas, the president of the University of Southern Mississippi, was the guest speaker. He challenged the graduates to keep graduating throughout their lives. "You know how to choose and you know how to finish," Dr. Lucas said. "Keep these attributes in all of your endeavors and you will continue to graduate throughout your life."

The USA President said, while addressing the maroon-robed graduates, "Nothing can take the place of persistence, success definitely comes with persistence and determination."

One hundred-seventy students received associate degrees in arts and applied science and 214 students received certificates of graduation. Academically 31 students were recognized for graduating with honors and 11 with special honors.

Sixty-six of the vocational-technical graduates received honors, while 23 received special honors.

Presentation of associate degree graduates was made by Hon. Carl D. Dean, of academic affairs. Dr. James Sones, dean of vocational-technical affairs, presented the career graduates. Dr. White presented all diplomas and certificates.

Dr. Robert Barnes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Poplarville gave the invocation and the benediction was given by G. G. Breeland, principal of Pearl River Central High School at Carriere.

This was also the second year the PRC faculty members have worn gowns and participated formally in the 1982 PRC commencement.

The symposium, which has panels and workshops open to the public, is co-sponsored by The University of Mississippi Law Center, the Stanning Committee on Law and National Security of the American Bar Association and The University of Mississippi. Ole Miss law professor Dr. Stephen Gorove, editor of the International Space Law Journal and organizer of the event, has announced the symposium schedule. All sessions except for the dinner and luncheons, which are by invitation only, will be held in the Moot Court Room on the third floor of the Law Center. The symposium will open at 9 a.m. Friday, May 21, with welcoming remarks from Ole Miss Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr. and Morris I. Leibman, chairman of the ABA Standing Committee of

At 10:15 a.m. there will be a presentation, "International Regional Role: Focus on the European Space Agency," by Roy Gibson of London, England, former director general of the European Space Agency in Paris, France.

At 11:20 a.m. Kenneth Pedersen, director of international affairs for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), will discuss "International Cooperation and Competition in Space."

A 12:10 p.m. luncheon will be presided over by Dr. Harvey S. Lewis, executive vice-chancellor at Ole Miss. The speaker will be retired U.S. Air Force Lt. Gen. Daniel O. Graham, author of "Shall America Be Defended? SALT II and Beyond" and "A New Strategy for the West: NATO After Detente."

"National Considerations" will be discussed in an afternoon session beginning at 2 p.m. with moderator Bernard A. Ramundo, consultant to the ABA Standing Committee on Law and National Security. Eileen M. Galloway, honorary vice president of the International Institute of Space Law, International Astronautical Federation, will lead off with "The Role of the U.S. Congress in Space Law and Policy."

Space Shuttle astronaut Maj. Bryan D. O'Connor and European Space Agency legal adviser Michel Bourelly will speak at a 12:10 p.m. luncheon presided over by Dr. Parham Williams Jr., dean of the Ole Miss Law School. Since the luncheon will not be open to the public, a public meeting with Maj. O'Connor has been tentatively scheduled in the Moot Court Room during the 10:40 a.m. refreshment break, in response to several requests. Any further opportunities to see and hear the astronaut will be announced at that time.

The symposium will conclude with an afternoon session on "Implications for Private Enterprise," moderated by Edward J. Finch Jr., a New York attorney and former special ambassador and delegate to the U.N.

At 2 p.m. "Private Sector Involvement in International

"Good Judges Make Good Government"

CLYDE HURLBERT

For Circuit Judge

"The Circuit Judge's job is to see that the people of the State of Mississippi, plaintiffs, defendants, and victims, all get a fair trial."

The jury must rely upon the Circuit Judge to instruct them as to each point of the law in reaching a verdict. Any mistakes made by an inexperienced judge as to the law may result in appeals, and increased cost to the taxpayers and litigants if a new trial is necessary.

The Judge's duty to pronounce sentence comes only after a guilty verdict. Whether or not that verdict and sentence will stand up on an appeal depends largely on the ability of the Trial Judge to see that the trial has been conducted according to law.

Therefore, a Circuit Judge must have a full knowledge of the law concerning all types of cases, both criminal and civil: Someone like Clyde Hurlbert!

Clyde Hurlbert has tried cases of every type, criminal and civil, in all of the State, County and Federal Courts for 22 years, seven and a half years of which he served as State Prosecutor. That experience speaks for itself!

If you want a Judge who thinks and speaks for himself--

If you want a Judge who is flesh and blood and real --

If you want a Judge with no strings attached --

If you want a Judge who is truly qualified --

THEN PLEASE HELP ME! VOTE CLYDE HURLBERT, CIRCUIT JUDGE, IN THE JUNE 1ST DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY. YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU DID!

Hancock General needs public relations professional

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The trustees of Hancock General heard a preliminary report from Melanie Shadow, Hospital Corporation of American public relations director, in reference to her findings as to how to create a better image in the community.

Ms. Shadow said, "I have only been here for one day and a half and I have talked to patients, medical staff members and several persons in the community."

"I would like to comment on three areas I have already noticed. On the image part of HGH there is a lack of information getting to the public. HGH does not have any community services such as preventative education and you need to identify yourself with a saying, possibly like you are currently using, 'HGH Cares for You'; and as the public passes, they see a small community hospital and they do not know all you have to offer," she added.

The public relations director for HCA said she felt an in-house public relations person would be needed for at least six months.

Ms. Shadow stated, "The public relations firms you have heard from are good, and they can be used for many of the things needed but, I would definitely recommend an in-house public relations person to get started."

The visit by the public relations director is part of the services HCA offers Hancock General under its contract for management of the local hospital.

A complete report will be sent to the trustees by Ms. Shadow after she completes her visit and returns to her headquarters in Nashville.

One of the items recommended was a newsletter for the employees with Ms. Shadow saying, "People like to see their name in print."

Another area covered by Ms. Shadow was the need for a plan of action by the trustees.

She also mentioned, "Patients expect good care when they come to a hospital, but you can also do a little extra like having a rose in the room."

Roland Richardson, HCA vice-president suggested the trustees hold a planning retreat for half of a day, a time to think about goals and the way they want HGH to go.

A tentative day was set for June 7 for such a meeting with HCA representatives acting as moderators.

In other actions the trustees authorized Administrator Phil Langston to secure the services of someone to draw up the plans for a metal building to be constructed at HGH to give more space for hospital services.

Comptroller Mike Dossett reported HGH showed a profit of $44,600 for the month of April, 1982.

The trustees were elated over the fact that the seven months of the current year showed a profit of $276,000 compared to a deficit of $29,000 for the same period in the previous year.

Trustees accepted Langston's recommendation on the purchase of monitoring equipment for the Intensive Care Unit.

Bids were received and a complete changeout will be made on the control panel in addition of two more outside units.

This will bring the Intensive Care Unit to a total of eight beds, four in the unit and four outside monitored from the ICU unit).

Trustees discussed how they have been trying to get parking lot expansions as there is a serious need.

The trustees authorized Langston's signature on the State Aide reimbursement as they have to be in Jackson by the sixth of each month and their meeting is the third Tuesday. This is to secure Indigent Care Funds for persons unable to pay for hospital services, who qualify.

Cooking up a storm

By Katy McGuire Caire

Zucchini may come last on the alphabetical roster of vegetables, but it's far from low on the taste totem pole for gardeners and cooks.

The crisp, fine texture of this member of the squash family is versatile and delicious from the peel to the inside, and like other squash varieties, can be used in cookies, casseroles, salads, pickles or teamed with onions, tomatoes, etc. as main dish or vegetable addition to the menu.

A tasty way is the zucchini pie Liz Hedgpeth makes, sometimes serving it as a main dish, at other times, cut into smaller pieces, as an appetizer. It's good hot or cold, and has quickly become a favorite at our house. So, here's

LIZ HEDGPETH'S ZUCCHINI PIE

4 cups zucchini, chopped in small pieces
1/2 cup onions, fine-chopped (green or other onion)

1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
Dash of nutmeg
2 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
Blend all together thoroughly. Press into a greased pan. In preheated oven, bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Cut into wedges. (Six servings or 24 to 36 appetizer servings, depending upon the size you cut).

Another good and easy dish, serving four, is

ZUCCHINI PROVENCALE

2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
4 zucchini, sliced and not peeled
2 tomatoes, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 tsp. oregano
Dash of pepper and salt
Melt the butter in a large skillet. Add the onion and garlic and cook for about five minutes, till tender. Add the zucchini, tomatoes and seasonings, stir together well, cover, and cook over moderately low heat for several minutes, or until the zucchini is crisp-tender. (Cut the stem and blossom ends off, but leave that tasty peel on).

ZUCCHINI STICKS

They are another favorite of ours: Wash and cut into sticks two pounds of zucchini. Then, in two or three tablespoons of butter, saute a fourth of an onion, diced. Add the zucchini sticks and stir together, then add a couple of slices of lemon and shake a bit of basil leaves over, along with a dash of lemon juice, and pepper and salt, and cook several minutes. (4 to 6 servings).

We also like zucchini, slices or sticks, served raw as an appetizer, or in a salad, often with basil and dillweed sprinkles. And, for a taste of summer when winter days come, keep peeled, sliced zucchini, in plastic bags, securely closed, in the freezer measuring out into amounts for various purposes. When ready to use, keep at room temperature in a dish, for approximately 15 minutes; then break apart and proceed. (Copyright, 1982, Katharine D. McGuire Caire).

FERTILIZE ON TIME

The next two months - May and June - are when most farmers side dress (fertilize) crops like corn and sorghum with nitrogen. It's a good time to apply, because that's when the crops really need it.

Nitrogen losses, whether through the soil or air, start as soon as it's applied. It makes sense, then, that you can cut losses by making application near to the time the crop will use it.

Most crops use 75 percent or more of their nitrogen from just before fruiting until the fruit is mature. Fertilize corn by the time it is 12 inches tall and sorghum by the time it is eight inches tall.

The amount to put out depends on the crop production potential, the soil and the crop grown. Generally, you need enough nitrogen on corn to bring the total to 120-200 pounds per acre. Sorghum needs 80 to 120 pounds.

The nitrogen source itself, whether it's ammonium nitrate, anhydrous ammonia or urea, doesn't make a lot of difference. That's provided you apply it correctly and on time.

EMS personnel slate statewide symposium

Emergency medical service personnel from throughout Mississippi will gather in Jackson May 26-28 for the 1982 Statewide Symposium on Emergency Medical Services.

In opening day ceremonies, they'll hear Arnett Williams, deputy chief of the Kansas City fire department, talk about the worst disaster in the history of that city.

Williams was in charge on the scene of the skywalks collapse at the Hyatt Regency Hotel last summer shortly after a frantic caller reported, "The skywalks have collapsed and there must be at least 100 people injured."

George Reagle, officer of driver and pedestrian programs for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, will share first day speaker duties with a presentation on ambulance crash research.

The symposium will be headquartered at the Holiday Inn Downtown, Jackson.

Other faculty for the sixth annual symposium — returning to the Capitol City for the first time in three years — will include Terri Kraf, RN, of New York City's Bellevue Hospital.

Ms. Kraf will talk about triage and priority-setting in the multiple-injured patient and lead a workshop on managing the patient with life-threatening injuries to the chest.

Particularly for physicians and concurrent with first day activities will be a base station symposium. The Mississippi Affiliate, American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP), sponsors the session designed to expose MD's to different techniques of directing advanced life support in the field.

Wade Sprull Jr., director of the State Board of Health Office of EMS, will again participate as a faculty member for this second symposium.

Ron Crowell, MD, president of the California Affiliate, ACEP, will lead the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. session.

An ever-popular repeat on this year's conference program will be the basic life support competition. Again, teams of two will compete for the overall award of $500 per team.

First prize will be $50 per team; second, $30 per team; and third, $20 per team. Prizes will be awarded for patient assessment and for cardiopulmonary resuscitation and anti-shock trousers.

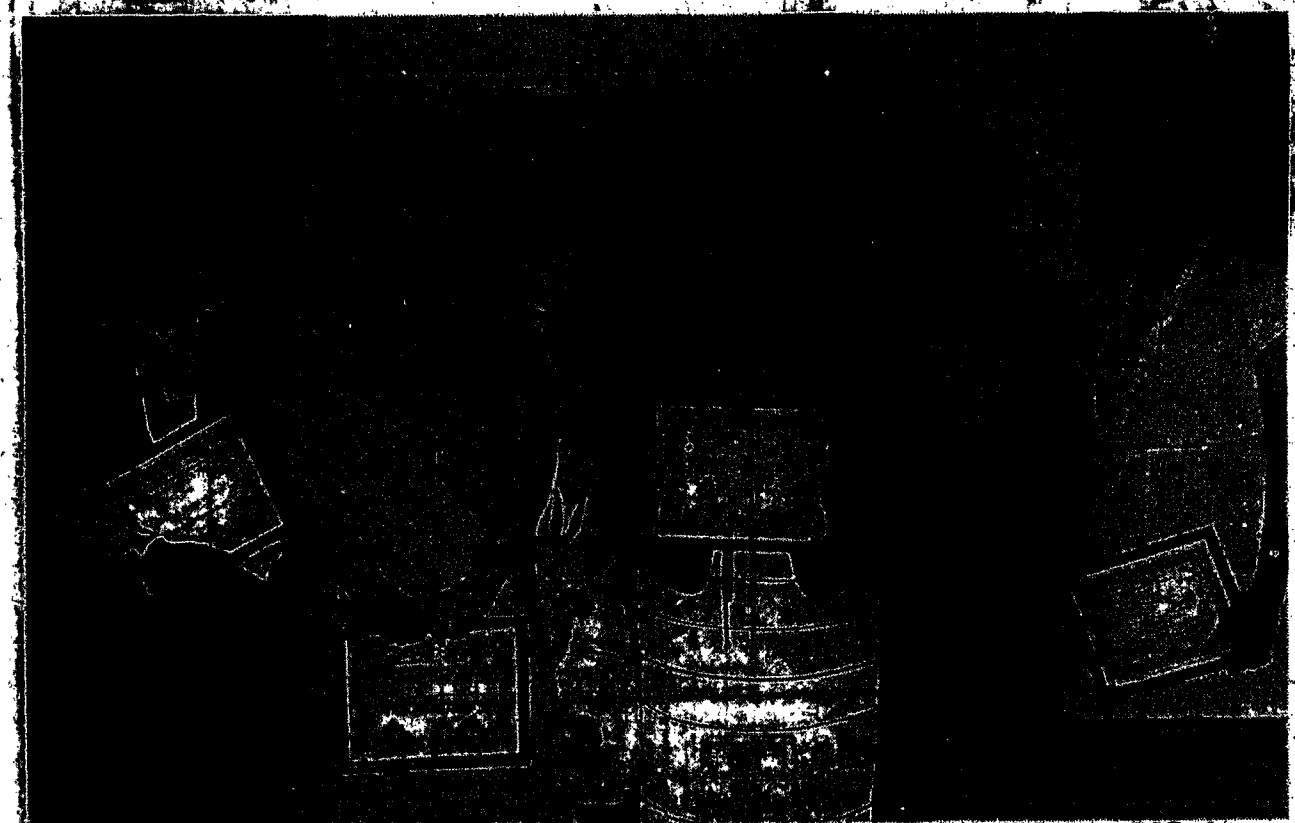

Friday's closing general session will feature remarks from Rocco Morando of the National EMT Registry; Don Stamper, National EMT Association; and Sprull, who'll discuss legislation.

Expected to draw 400 participants from throughout Mississippi, the symposium offers continuing education units for workshop participation, including 12 hours toward EMT re-registration.

Federal, state waters off Texas to be closed to shrimpers

The National Marine Fisheries Service has announced that the fishery conservation zone off the coast of Texas will be closed to trawling from 30 minutes after sunset on May 25 to 30 minutes after sunset on July 14. The purpose of the closure is to protect brown shrimp during their major period of emigration from the bays to the Gulf of Mexico and allow them to reach a larger, more valuable size. The State of Texas will close its Territorial Sea to trawling during the same period. Last year's closure resulted in increased landings of 12 million pounds of shrimp and an increase in value of $23 million, the fisheries service estimated. A closing time of 30 minutes after sunset was selected at the request of the shrimp industry. Historically, the closing time has been set at midnight. Enforcement of the closure will be facilitated by the use of the Coast Guard's high performance, air-cushion-assisted patrol craft, capable of speeds considerably in excess of 30 knots, and other patrol units. Air surveillance will be accomplished with long-range Hercules C-130 aircraft equipped with high intensity "Carolina Moon" night illumination devices. Federal civil penalties up to $25,000 may be assessed against violators. Fishing vessel owners and masters should be on the alert for signals from the Coast Guard or other authorized enforcement vessels or aircraft, and must stop when directed, and comply with enforcement instructions, authorities warned.

On Saturday in mixed doubles competition, Bud Phillips and Virginia Wagner won by default over Gary Heitzman and Mrs. Ann Heitzman after Mr. Heitzmann injured his leg in the third game of the first set.

In Women's A doubles Friday, Barbara Hotz and Nancy Carter downed Mary McDonnell and Cynthia Allen 6-1 in a playoff match to decide a round robin which ended in a tie.

Thursday in the Women's B competition, Betsy Nolan and Nancy Uram defeated Ellen Kane and Merry Montjoy by scores of 6-4, 3-6 and 6-4.

the punch, but also how to defend against it," says Yalle. "Gerry thinks before he places his punches. He doesn't waste them. When I teach something new to Gerry, he might make one or two mistakes, but it clicks. He says to me, 'Hey, I like that. That's good.'"

"There is no heavyweight who can play the ropes like Gerry. He will rip you inside, kill you inside. His left hook to the body is the most devastating blow of its kind I've ever seen."

In his last three outings, Cooney has knocked out Jimmy Young, Ron Lyle and Ken Norton. Only Young lasted past the first round, but he was a gory, blood-soaked fighter when the bout was mercifully halted in the fourth round.

"The only heavyweight who hit as hard as Cooney was Sonny Liston," says veteran trainer Carmine Graziano. "But nobody cuts the ring off like this kid. You'll take three steps away and he'll take one step and meet you."

"Cooney has shortened all his punches. He's got tremendous power in both hands. Joe Frazier had a yard-long hook. This guy throws a hook seven inches and you're down. He's like a well-equipped carpenter. He needs a chisel, and has a chisel; he needs a saw, and finds a saw; he must have a hammer, he has the hammer."

Gerry Cooney is this close to the heavyweight championship of the world. It's only an overhand right and short left hook away.

The opportunity to put those talents to use comes June 11 when he challenges Larry Holmes at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

The vent will be shown live on giant screen closed circuit at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

Tickets are available at Lolacano's Health Club in Bay St. Louis.

FIRST ROUND ACTION—women's B doubles partners, from right, Monica Montagnon and Ann Stichel, congratulate Ellen Kane and Merry Montjoy on their victory in first round action a tournament conducted at St. Stanislaus recently. Kane and Montjoy continued on to the tournament finals but were defeated after three close sets by Betsy Nolan and Nancy Uram. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

Persons interested in registering for a baseball batting clinic offered by St. Stanislaus Coach Fred Weems next week should call 467-7372 for information. A notice about registration appearing in Sunday's edition of The Sea Coast Echo transposed the final two digits in the telephone number.

In an article in a recent edition of The Sea Coast Echo inadvertently failed to mention that Bay High School senior Doug Dickinson also competed in the recent State Track Meet.

In 1934, Walter Nilsson crossed the United States by unicycle. This unusual journey took 117 days.

The second annual Charles L. Sullivan Memorial Golf Tournament is scheduled June 28-29 at the Pecan Meadows Country Club in Clarksdale.

The tournament was established in memory of the former lieutenant governor and proceeds will fund the Charles L. Sullivan Scholarship in the School of Law at the University of Mississippi.

The Sullivan scholarship will be available to law students from the Eleventh Circuit Court District who are in need of financial aid and who meet other qualifications.

The Financial Aid Committee of the School of Law will administer the scholarship.

Before serving as Mississippi's lieutenant governor from 1968-72, Sullivan was a practicing attorney in Clarksdale. He served as municipal judge there and from 1965-60 was district attorney for the Eleventh Judicial District.

He was a pilot during World War II and in Korea and Vietnam, and at the time of his death was commanding general of the Mississippi Air National Guard.

He had been a principle founder of Pecan Meadows Country Club and served as its first president. Sullivan earned the law degree from Ole Miss in 1950.

The Sullivan golf tournament will be a two-man scramble, with four flights, and a field of 96 players.

Entry fee for the tournament is $50 per player.

Playing in this year's tournament will be Bruce Webster Jr. and Rod Cauthen of Clarksdale, winners of last year's tournament. For entry information interested golfers may contact Leon Langley, golf pro at Pecan Meadows, Route 3, Box 569, Clarksdale, Ms 38614.

Belhaven College head basketball coach Charlie Rugg will be conducting his annual boy's basketball camps June 14-18 and June 21-25 on the Belhaven College campus in Jackson.

Rugg's camp is open to boys entering grades 5 through 12 this coming fall. Campers will be grouped according to age and size in all activities.

Rugg's Belhaven camp stresses basketball fundamentals and concepts of team play. Basic fundamentals will be stressed during the mornings, along with three on three tournament play, free throw competitions and staff lessons.

Afternoon and night sessions will be devoted to five on five team play.

Rugg, the dean of Mississippi collegiate coaches with 19 years at Belhaven, will be in full attendance at the camps. Rugg's camp staff will include Belhaven assistant coach Mark Windham; and assistant Mississippi State coach John Brady, a former Belhaven player and former Louisiana state high school coach of the year.

There I was, on location in a dark lounge on Chicago's West Side in order to shoot an up-and-coming Country-and-Western band.

There she was, 15 pounds overweight, but with the nicest eyes I've seen in a long time. She was reluctant to pose. She wanted a few weeks to lose some weight. I wanted to photograph her then and there.

Of course, every successful portrait photographer knows the key to producing top quality, flattering portraits is to concentrate on and emphasize the model's best points—and disguise the weaknesses.

Overly full, round, or outright heavy faces can be "slimmed down and shaped" in the studio by careful arrangements of the lights. Long, thin faces can be "filled out" in a similar way.

Short, squatty noses can be lengthened by lighting and the choice of lenses. Long noses can be shortened similarly.

bracket off to one side of the camera. If I hadn't the bracket, I would have held the flash off to one side or gotten someone to do it for me. Light coming from one side of the lens has more direction and interest to it than light coming from directly above the lens, which tends to flatten-out a subject.

In order to soften the harsh glare from the flash unit, I pointed the flash head straight up and had someone hold a white card just behind the unit and tilted slightly toward the model.

Finally, I put a 200 mm lens on my camera, stepped back to about 12 feet, focused carefully, and shot. Needless to say, that long a lens at that short a distance filled the frame with the model's face, thus eliminating the problem of those 15 extra pounds. And bouncing the flash off the white card took much of the harshness out of the light, resulting in a softer, more pleasant illumination.

High contrast and grain combine with a close camera angle to produce an interesting portrait.

But how does one make the best of a bad situation—poor available light, cluttered background, one flash (the second malfunctioned), and the "wrong" lens? Elementary, my dear Watson.

I started by loading Ilford's HP5 thinemulsion (72-exposure) black-and-white film in the camera. It has an ASA of 400, which is good for low-light situations, and a tendency to be "grainy," which isn't often good for portraits. Especially not if the end result is supposed to be flattering, alluring.

Next, I set the flash up on a

When I got home, I processed the film normally and ran off a couple of prints. The first print I developed normally in Kodak's Dektol diluted 1:2 (one part Dektol to two parts water). The results were interesting, but not what I wanted. There was too much grain in the shot, and several imperfections in the model's skin—things I hadn't noticed in the dimly lit lounge—bothered me.

So back to the enlarger—this time to underexpose the print, which I then overdeveloped in the Dektol. This produced a more limited range of the gray scale, dropping out the middle tones, as well as the annoying grain, and creating a high-contrast print.

The results, I think you'll agree, are intriguing. I captured what I wanted and eliminated what I didn't want. And the fact that the model's face (less than the entire face, in fact) filled the frame adds impact to the shot. I'm pleased with the high-contrast print, although I'm not necessarily finished with it. There are other things to be done with such a print-like producing a Sabattier-effect photo or an ultra-high-contrast print, or even a screened texture shot. But more about that in the future.

Political scientists cool to GOP policies

Mississippi political scientists meeting recently at the University of Southern Mississippi-Long Beach were highly skeptical about continued support for President Reagan's economic and foreign policy initiatives.

The Mississippi Political Science Association in a roundtable discussion examined the first year of the Reagan presidency at its recent convention.

The group concluded that no president since Lyndon Johnson has been so successful in getting his legislative program through Congress but with "The failure of the economy to recover as the President has promised" he will not have the same support this year.

Dr. Joseph Parker from USM, who chaired the discussion, said that already many Republicans and conservative Democrats are putting distance between themselves and the President as the 1982 elections approach.

Most participants felt that Reagan has managed to project himself as a "rich man's president" which would become an increasingly damaging image without significant improvement in the economy.

Mississippi Attorney General Bill Allain was the featured speaker at the group's 11th annual meeting.

Participating in the various other panels evaluating the teching of political science, and political leadership in Mississippi were faculty from Mississippi State, Delta State and Jackson State Universities as well as R&D Center personnel.

Dr. John R. Van Wingen was on the committee dealing with teaching political science, and Dr. James Robertson was on the panel looking at political leadership in Mississippi.
